Messrs. Day & Haff are selling an extra choice article of hemp seed. Farmers in need of seed will do well to call and examine it before purchasing.

We regret to be obliged to announce the death of the estimable wife of Rev. J. W. Pugh, which took place in this city at 10 1/2 o'clock last night. She has been a patient sufferer for many months, and met the grim monster with a calm resignation becoming a true Christian woman.

The Children's Fancy Dress Hop.

At an early hour last evening the little folks began to put in an appearance at the Capital Hotel ball-room, dressed in all the fancy costumes imaginable, representing a great variety of characters. The costumes were gotten up with much taste, and speak well for the patience and perseverance of the makers of them. In such a large assemblage it is, of course, impossible to mention every one present, yet we have endeavored to slight none. If the names of any who were present last night have been omitted in the list below, it is unintentional.

The following characters and costumes were on the floor:

Miss Jennie McDonald, Court Lady, cherry velvet, lace, cream satin, gold trimmings, diamonds.

Miss Clara Buckley, Girl of the Period, blue satin, white swiss, lace, gold.

Miss Jo. Duvall, Girl of the Period, pink and blue silk, diamonds.

Miss Nettie Walcutt, Fairy Queen, spangled tarlatan, starry crown, gossamer wings, diamonds representing dew drops.

Miss Katie Green, Marie Antoniette, pink and blue satin, pearls.

Miss Nellie Sanders, Folly, crimson velvet, old gold overskirt, gold.

Miss Clara Swigert, Girl of the Period, pink silk, white swiss overdress, pearls.

Miss Eliza Johnston, Normandy Peasant, pink silk, muslin overdress, blue trimmings, turquoise.

Miss Cordie Cannon, Girl of the Period, blue silk, white muslin overdress, diamonds.

Miss Mary Lindsey, blue silk and lace.

Miss Floreta Buhr, Flower Girl, pink satin, point lace, diamonds.

Miss Bessie Dudley, Night, black illusion spangled with gold stars.

Miss Lullie Stout, Wood Nymph, white illusion wreathed with wild flowers.

Miss Lottie Stanton, Spanish Peasant, crimson velvet, blue satin bodice, white swiss overskirt.

Miss Julia Duvall, Josephine in "Pinafore," rose-colored satin skirt, cream satin overskirt, point lace ruffles, gold trimmings, diamonds.

Miss Nellie Cartmell, of Uniontown, Young Lady of the Period, wine-colored velvet, blue silk, diamonds.

Miss Hallie Rodman, Young Lady of the Period, light blue silk, diamonds.

Miss Rosa Stewart, Buttercup in "Pinafore," solid red skirt, flowered overdress, poke bonnet.

Miss Lena Stewart, embroidered muslin over pink, cameo.

Miss Todd Saffell, Carmen from the opera "Carmen," a Spanish dress; yellow silk underskirt, trimmed with crimson and gold, crimson overdress, trimmed with blue and gold; blue satin waist, trimmed with silver and pearls, diamonds. This dress was surpassed by none in the room in point of beauty.

Miss Mary Talbot Dudley, Rose Bud, muslin and lace, over pink silk, pearls.

Miss Mamie Johnston, white muslin over pink silk.

Miss Bonnie Todd, Spanish Lady, canary silk, black lace flounces, wine-colored velvet over dress, rubies.

Miss Belle Hensley, evening dress—very pretty.

Miss Maggie Dudley, blue silk, white muslin overdress.

Miss Maggie Graham, Flower Girl, pink silk, tarlatan overdress, pink trimmings, flowers.

Miss Madge McDowell, Widow Malone, black velvet, en train, white lace cap.

Miss Fannie Murphy, white dotted muslin, pink trimmings, flowers and gold.

Miss Virginia Stanton, Young Lady of the Period, white tarlatan, blue trimmings, roses.

Miss Lucy Stockton, white muslin over blue silk, gold.

Miss Alice Hines, white muslin over pink silk, pink trimmings.

Miss Alice Trabue, white lace over pink, diamonds.

Miss Annie Glass, white muslin over lavender silk skirt, gold.

Miss Lena Smith, berage and black velvet, gold.

Miss Daisy Blackburn, Ceres, white dotted muslin over blue silk, flowers and gold.

Miss Maggie Smith, Persian Girl, blue silk skirt, trimmed with crimson and gold, crimson overdress, coronet of gold, pearls.

Miss Henrietta Blackburn, Parisian Grisette, pink skirt, flowered overskirt, French bodice, and Grisette cap.

Miss Bessie Markham, white embroidered muslin over blue silk, gold.

Miss Katie Sproule, white swiss over blue silk, blue trimmings, natural flowers and gold.

Miss Helen McElrath, of Carrolton, wine colored silk and lace, gold.

Miss May Fawcett, Pittsburg, Penn., green and black silk plaid, white dotted muslin overdress, pink trimmings, gold.

Fayette Hewett, a knightly page to Charles I, crimson velvet jacket, point lace and white satin breeches, gold lace and pink stockings.

Alford Blackburn, Field Marshal.

Harris Johnston, Ralph Rackstraw in "Pinafore."

Pat McDonald, Prince Edward, black velvet mantle and knee pants, white satin and gold lace trimmings.

Carroll Walcutt, Prince Percinnett, crimson silk knee pants, green silk coat and cap, point lace and gold trimmings.

John Stewart, Sailor Boy.

McKee Heffner, Cupid, white silk tights, silver crown, bow and arrow.

Ollie Walcutt, Sir Henry Clinton, black cloth military suit, yellow satin vest.

Robt. Trabue, Gay Cavalier.

Jimmie Withrow, Louis XIV, lavender satin and gold trimmings, point lace and pearls.

A new foot-bridge has been erected on Second street, near the intersection of Logan South Frankfort.

A City Park.

The project to materialize the Capitol Square into a City Park is one that should elicit the heartiest support from every citizen. The Legislature will find no more appropriate or useful method for preserving in handsome shape its State grounds than to legalize their use as a City Park, devoted to the healthful recreation of the people—especially the industrial classes. These latter need something of the kind—a place for social reunion after the labors of the day. The grateful shade, embellished by grassy plats that glitter under innumerable gas jets—sparkling fountains that scatter showers of silvery spray—gravelled walks—cozy grottoes—rustic seats, with enchanting music from the band, would make of Capitol Square something else than a gloomy, secluded, repulsive locality during the long summer nights. A suitable police force could easily preserve the best of order and make the Park as orderly as the most well-mannered opera house.

We trust the proposition will meet from the Legislature a cordial assent. Frankfort has little territory not already overcrowded and as little territory adaptable to park purposes. Capitol Square is just the place for a holiday ground—the people's general assembly. Ho for the Park! Straight there without change of cars!

Flood Happenings.

The Benson bridge is slightly disfigured, but it is hoped that it is still fit for service.

Two hundred families were compelled to move out of "Craw" by the recent high water.

Officer John Rupe was busily engaged all day Saturday seeing to the removal of families from the flooded district.

Water having filled the gas pipes Saturday night no gas could be had, and the "light of other days" was brought into requisition.

Several members of the General Assembly had to go to the State House in hacks last Saturday morning, on account of the high tide in the river.

The school children were very much disappointed Monday morning when they found that the high water had receded sufficiently to allow them to pass dry shod along Second street, South Frankfort, to the City School building.

In coming to town along the Lawrenceburg pike, Saturday morning, Mr. Jas. Hughes' horse got fastened in the culvert, near the toll-gate one mile from this city, which was covered with water, and both the horse and Mr. Hughes came near being drowned.

Col. J. W. South, Messrs. R. C. Church, Church Brothers, J. M. Wakefield, and John Henderson placed their teams at the disposal of Officer Rupe for the removal of families in the flooded district, free of charge, last Saturday, and deserve the thanks of our citizens.

A citizen of "Craw" had a fine dog which he did not wish drowned, and arose early Saturday morning and took it to a place of safety, but when he returned home the water had risen so rapidly that he could not get within a square of the house in which he had left his wife and children.

So far as we have been able to learn the following are the losses the saw mill firms in this city sustained during the high water: Mr. J. M. Wakefield to the amount of $75; Messrs. Rodman & Sneed, $250; Judge W. L. Pence, $200; Messrs. J. G. Dudley & Bro., railroad track damaged considerably.

Belle Point.

Most of our young ladies remained at home Sunday, on account of the boom in the river.

Master Willie Crutcher's store-room stood the high tide, notwithstanding the water was nearly over it.

We learn that the damage to Judge Pence's saw-mill, on account of high water, so far is about $200.

Judge W. L. Pence bought a fine gray horse from Gen. J. P. Pence last Tuesday. We didn't learn the price paid.

The high water last Saturday morning caused four or five families to leave their homes and seek higher ground.

Messrs. James Neatherton and C. Nichols were kept busy Sunday, transferring people between this place and Frankfort.

You "orter" see our valentine; but we'll frame it and put it in the Belle Point Art Gallery, and then you must come and take a peep at her.

The ROUNDABOUT is eagerly sought after over here. It's hard to keep one longer than ten minutes. We have been thinking of getting a safe to put ours in.

The "Lady of the Lake," a new boat built by Mr. Wm. Arvin, was launched from Judge Pence's mill Tuesday morning, in the presence of a large crowd of men and boys.

We understand that Mr. George Suttles, of Oldham county, is prospecting here with a view of going into the lumber business. Mr. Suttles has followed saw-milling the greater part of his life.

FRANKFORT, FEBRUARY 21, 1880.

A Motion to Amend.

The "leave" obtained by the member from Jessamine, Dr. J. C. Welch, to introduce a bill levying a tax of one cent on every gallon of whisky manufactured in the State, for the benefit of Common Schools, is a move in the right direction. It is more than mere poetic justice to require the traffic in whisky to render some faint equivalent or compensation for the amount of evil it accomplishes. It is but fair and right that the business most of all destructive of the material and moral interests of the people, should be made to pay back in some way at least a trilling return for the injuries it inflicts.

But we think a more direct and fitting way to do this would be, not by making the whisky trade contribute to the educational progress of our State, but by using the tax proposed for the purpose of establishing at some convenient point within the Commonwealth, the long and much needed Inebriate Asylum. Certainly if the people keep up the jails and prisons, the lunatic and orphan asylums, the institutions for feeble-minded and other unfortunates—the larger proportion of the inmates of each of which is the direct result of this wicked and hurtful trade—to say nothing of the pauperism and misery in countless homes all over our State, of which it is the one undoubted cause—it is asking a very small thing at the hands of this despoiler of our land, to provide an Asylum where its most sadly wounded victims may for a season receive adequate medical treatment.

To make it help educate our children and thus compel it to build up where it has heretofore only torn down, would be a good thing. But to make it provide for the treatment and recovery of those unfortunates of whose sickness and damage it is the immediate cause, would be a still better thing. It would be placing the responsibility where it belongs. It would directly imply that this traffic is an enemy to the State. It would stamp the seal of the law's condemnation upon it. It would recognize the principle that the care of the inebriate is the inalienable right and bounden duty of the man who makes him.

We would prefer that our children should not be educated on money that is the price of blood. We don't want their schooling paid for from funds which reek with the iniquity and wretchedness of the whisky traffic. We would not thus rob those to whom it rightfully belongs.

Medical testimony establishes the fact that no small proportion of prevailing drunkenness is the outcropping of physical disease. Moral remedies are powerless to reach the stomach that is disordered, the blood that is poisoned, and the nerves that are shattered by the use of whisky. The inebriate is as much a patient for the medical practitioner as the asthmatic, the consumptive, or the paralytic.

If intemperance is ever eradicated and banished from our country, it will be because we regard it a disease as well as a vice, and treat it accordingly. Other States than Kentucky, north and east, have long been acting in recognition of this fact, and have very generally established Inebriate Asylums. Let us take the one cent tax on each gallon of whisky made in our State and apply it in this direction. We move this as an amendment to the original bill of the gentleman from Jessamine.

A Card.

We take this method of returning thanks to our employees, and other good citizens, for their efforts in assisting to save our property during the recent high tide.

Respectfully,
HATCHITT & ZIEGLER.

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

FRANKFORT, FEBRUARY 21, 1880.

The price of beef has advanced from 10 to 12½ cents in this market.

The veteran soldiers of the Mexican war will meet at the court-house in this city next Monday, at 11 o'clock, a. m.

Mr. Pat. Newman, having had his grocery broken into several times, has had strong shutters put up at his front doors and windows.

The subject of Mr. Darsie's discourse at the Christian Church to-morrow morning is "The Sufficiency of the Bible." All are cordially invited.

The Franklin County Christian Sunday-school Convention is in session at the Christian Church in this city. All are invited to attend this afternoon.

Dr. Bots, who disappeared so mysteriously from his home, near Millville, Woodford county, in January, has turned up in Illinois, where he is visiting a friend who is sick.

Whitesides & McEwan have a lot of pictures on hand, framed for different persons, which, if not called for by the first of March, 1880, will be sold to anyone desiring them, to pay for the framing of them.

About twenty boats of coal have started from Proctor, and if they are not swamped on the way, we will have plenty of coal in a short time. A large number of rafts of saw-logs are also expected from above.

There will be a called meeting of Frankfort Royal Arch Chapter, No. 3, next Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, for work in the M. E. and R. A. degrees. A full attendance of the members is requested, and visiting Companions are cordially invited.

The negro woman that escaped from the penitentiary last week was recaptured in Versailles and returned to her former quarters Monday evening by the town Marshal of that place. Forty-four dollars of the money and a portion of the clothing she stole was recovered.

An address will be delivered before the Franklin County Bible Society, at the Presbyterian Church, to-morrow night, at half after seven o'clock, by Prof. J. K. Patterson, President of the Kentucky Agricultural and Mechanical College. There will be no services at the other churches.

Mrs. Fanny Lyons was raising a window of her residence in South Frankfort last Saturday when the sash slipped from her grasp and fell, catching her right hand between it and the sill, bruising it fearfully, but, fortunately, breaking no bones.

Prof. Hough, a seedy looking tramp, visited our city last week and delivered several novel lectures. He lectures to an audience wherever he can get one—generally one to three or four persons—charging five cents for each person. He uses good language, and lectures with great earnestness. Kuno is the name of his life—all his earnings being spent for the accused stuff. He talks of canvassing the South this spring in the interest of "The Old Democratic Ship."

The high wind of Tuesday blew down a cedar tree in the yard of Officer Jack Long upon the roof of his house, but little damage was done, however.

As a spring wagon, containing Mr. and Mrs. Brewer, formerly of Virginia, was turning the corner of Todd and Shelby streets, South Frankfort, last Monday, the chair in which Mrs. Brewer was sitting toppled over, throwing her to the ground and bruising her up considerably.

The one-story brick building on Ann street, opposite Heffner & Case's stable, tumbled down Sunday afternoon. One end of the building fell out some time ago, and the old shell was more of a dead-fall than anything else, and it is a relief to persons living in that neighborhood, who have children, to know that it is gone. A little girl had just passed by it and was but a few yards away when the walls fell.

While Mr. H. C. Rodenbaugh, of Jessamine, and Mr. Alex. Todd, of this city, were coming down Arsenal Hill Thursday the right fore wheel of the buggy they were in ran off, throwing Mr. Todd out on his shoulder, bruising his arm considerably. The horse immediately ran off, going at a terrible rate down the hill, with Mr. Rodenbaugh still in the buggy. After running several hundred yards, Mr. Rodenbaugh was thrown out, stunning him senseless and badly injuring his foot and shoulder. The horse, with buggy attached, ran down to Ann street, thence down to the malt house, where he was stopped, with a badly smashed vehicle and a severely injured horse.

A small frame dwelling on the alley running from St. Clair to Washington street, between Mero and Blanton streets, was discovered to be on fire Monday night, between eight and nine o'clock, and the alarm was sounded which brought the fire department to the scene in a few moments, who extinguished the flames in a short time. The damage amounted to about $200, which is covered by insurance. The house was the property of Ed. Pitman and was unoccupied, the family having moved out Saturday on account of high water, and were just making preparations to return. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary, as there was no fire in the house and the flames were first discovered in a corner of a room in which there was no flue.

Yesterday afternoon a wagon and team belonging to a gentleman from Anderson county was standing in the alley adjoining the Baptist Church, when George Taylor, colored, who drives a wagon for Mr. E. P. Bryan, drove into the alley, stopped his team, got down and went to where the other wagon was standing to see if there was room to drive his wagon by. Just after he passed the Anderson wagon the team started and in attempting to stop them Taylor was knocked over the wall upon the river bank, the fall dislocating his right arm at the elbow, and bruising him up badly. The team ran out of the alley to Main street; thence down Lewis street, colliding with other wagons near Market and smashing them up; thence through Clinton and Wilkerson streets and was stopped in the yard of the Cotton Mills. We failed to learn whether the wagon was damaged or not. Dr. Duvall set Taylor's arm and at last accounts he was doing well.

Mr. Peter C. Sower was knocked down on Main street, one night last week, by some unknown party, with the intention, it is supposed, of robbing him, but as he had only fifteen cents in his pocket they concluded not to take so small a sum. He was rendered insensible by the blow, which left an ugly mark on the left temple.

The Hon. Charles Stewart Parnell, the great Irish agitator, arrived in this city Thursday morning, accompanied by committees appointed by the House of Representatives and a meeting of the Irish citizens of this city. He was met at the depot by Governor Blackburn, who, in a few words, welcomed him to the city and conducted him to his carriage that was in waiting, and escorted him to the Capital Hotel, the proprietor having extended the hospitalities of that establishment to the distinguished visitor.

At 10 o'clock Mr. Parnell was presented to the House of Representatives by Hon. E. J. McDermott, of Louisville, in a neat speech, and addressed the Legislature for about half an hour, in which he stated the object of his mission to this country, speaking of the sufferings of his people, and attributing it to the system of tenant farming in that country. He was roundly applauded by the audience at the conclusion of his remarks, and after being introduced to a number of Representatives he repaired to the Senate Chamber and was presented to that body.

At 12 o'clock the committee of citizens from Louisville, who had arrived on the 9 o'clock train, took Mr. Parnell in charge and escorted him to Louisville in a special car furnished by President Wilder, of the Short Line Road, for the purpose. The car was beautifully decorated with Irish and American flags, and each member of the committee of escort wore a rosette of red, white and blue ribbon, with green streamers, upon the lapel of his coat.

Mr. Parnell is a young man, being but 34 years of age, is over six feet in height, and straight as an arrow. He is a fine looking Irishman, and is a member of the Episcopal Church.

During the time he was speaking the lobbies, gallery, and hall of the House of Representatives were filled to their utmost capacity.

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

Rev. Frank Hodges is lying dangerously ill at his residence in this county, with no hopes of recovery.

Captain Fitzhugh is engaged in the preparation of the plans and specifications for the improvement of the Kentucky river.

Frankfort Commandery, No. 4, will meet next Tuesday evening, at 7 o'clock at their asylum in Odd Fellows' Temple, for work in the K. T. degree. A full attendance of Sir Knights is desired.

Scarlet fever of a malignant type has broken out in the lower end of this city. A little child of Mr. Chilson, sawyer at J. M. Wakefield's mill, died with it Thursday afternoon, and six other children in the neighborhood have been very ill of the disease, but are improving.

We are under obligations to our friend B. F. Meek, jr., for an invitation to attend the two hundredth anniversary of the discovery of the Falls of Saint Anthony which takes place on the 3d of July, 1880, on the University Campus, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Frankfort girls who visit a fortune-teller's, two on one horse, find many misfortunes on the road. Two of them visiting in the country last week tried it and found their misfortune to be the horse and themselves all piled up together in a mud hole.

There have been eighteen additions to the South Frankfort Baptist Church during the protracted meeting that has been in progress there for several weeks. The ordinance of baptism will be administered at the pool on Cross street, between Main and Logan streets, South Frankfort, to-morrow afternoon, at 4 o'clock. All are invited to attend.

Affectionate young couples who seek the solitude of the old Fort Hill, and with arms entwined about each other's necks whisper the promptings of their loving hearts, with many kisses, should remember that a great number of windows look in that direction, and that some people have very good opera glasses. The couple that was thus engaged Wednesday afternoon was plainly seen and recognized.

On Saturday last, the river being on a big bum, we are informed that in the vicinity of Pat. Hunt's, there was a white woman trying to out-bum the river. She was beastly drunk, acting in the most disgraceful manner, cursing and swearing at all who came near her. This is a disgrace that even "Craw" should blush at. Any person getting whisky for such an unfortunate should be made to pay the full penalty of the law. The attention of the police is called to this matter.

Dr. J. L. Massie has removed to town and now occupies his new residence on Main street.

Married—On the 12th inst., by Elder Hiram Ford, Mr. Quincy Wetz and Miss Nancy Green.

The social party at J. G. Wigginton's, on the 12th inst., was a success, and the youngsters all enjoyed themselves.

Scarlet fever is very bad in this part of the county. Several deaths have occurred and Dr. J. C. Massie reports several new cases.

The school exhibition given by the scholars of Professor Applegate, at the old Ventres school-house, in Scott county, was a success. Misses Alice and Bettie Wigginton and Miss Lizzie Ford Parker, of this place, took an active part.

Elmville wants a voting precinct, as some of the voters north of this place have to go six miles and a half to get to Peak's Mill to vote. It is so far that some of the voters have not been to an election for three or four years. We also want our village incorporated, and would suggest that some petition the Legislature for the same.

Bridgeport.

Mr. Chas. Jenkins' wife is convalescing. A grand soiree at Mr. J. H. Long's last Tuesday night.

Mr. Wm. Russell and family have returned to Bridgeport.

Miss Peggie Crockett, of Frankfort, is visiting Misses Jacque and Cordie Jackson. Taylor Parrent and wife and Maj. E. T. Parrent have been visiting in Louisville this week.

Peak's Mill.

The fishermen anticipate a great time when the spring opens. Fish will be plentiful.

A wedding of one of our fairest belles is in the near future, that is if Madam Rumor is correct in her prognostications.

Madam Rumor says that one of our most gallant beaux will shortly lead to the altar one of our most fascinating young ladies.

We sorely need a bridge to connect our village. Our churches and schools are principally on one side and our citizens on the other. Who will move in this matter?

The great waters have been fearfully swollen, and the beauty of it all is that R. T. Long will not drink a drop of whisky until the waters fall. May they never subside.

Our citizens, and especially the members of Pleasant Hill Church, are more than delighted at the end of the great and seemingly interminable litigation between two of our most worthy neighbors. M. P.

North Benson.

Oh! the roads—the terrible mud roads! Maple sugar and lasses candy are in order now.

Mr. O'Bannon Sudduth was seen on our streets yesterday.

Mr. Wm. Armstrong has moved to his father's farm in Franklin county, the former occupants having moved to Louisville. William stands greatly in need of a helpmeet. Girls, don't all speak at once.

It was a sad disappointment at Mt. Zion Church last Sunday. Bro. Harvey Baker failed to reach his appointment. But the disappointment became agreeable when it was known that Bro. J. Polk Baker was on hand to fill his pulpit.

If "Old Turk" can make "buckle and tongue meet" by springtime he will put in about 400 acres of mustard, and will form a partnership for the manufacture of choice mustard, under the style of Babbitt, Clarke & Co. The mills will be erected at North Benson.

A large number of our citizens, both men and women, have signed a petition to the Legislature to have a law passed prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors within three miles of our depot. We pray the Lord that it may become a law. Yet there is a remonstrance, and, strange to say, has signers who make considerable claim to respectability. We suppose, however, they have no children to be saved from destruction.

Geo. F., having had nothing of a very exciting nature to happen him since his advent on Indian Fork, went out to Uncle Billy Pierce's to a dance last week. One of the young ladies asked him, "What is your pard, Hoosier?" Sez he, "Railroad ing, mum." Sez she, "What did he go railroading for?" Sez he, "Caze he wants to." Young lady close at hand remarked sotto voce, "La! sister, aint he smart." Nice young man. But the worst of all was George fell in love and danced all night with a married woman and didn't know any better till her husband invited her to return home.
